

The @micahstubbs Follower Graph and Its Publication Record: A Survey for arXiv Endorsement

August 21, 2026

Prepared by: CaseMirror Research Date: 2026-08-21 Subject: Who among Micah Stubbs’s X followers, email contacts, and address book publishes on arXiv, which of them are eligible to endorse a first-time cs.MA submission in August 2026, and who is the best person to ask for the popsim paper.

A. Executive Summary

arXiv stopped auto-endorsing on institutional email on 2026-01-21. A first-time submitter without a co-authored arXiv paper now needs a personal endorsement from an author with papers in the same endorsement domain submitted between three months and five years ago. Neither author of popsim: Reproducing Elements of Billion-Agent Social Simulators (Micah Stubbs, CaseMirror Research; Yvonne Chen) qualifies for the automatic path, so this report answers one question: who in Micah’s own network can endorse, and who among them would actually understand and appreciate the paper?

Three sources were surveyed and every plausible name was cross-referenced against the arXiv API. The X follower graph dominated. Of 4,464 followers of @micahstubbs, 1,383 (31%) carry academic or research-lab signals in their bio, and of the 229 highest-scoring, 96 have arXiv papers in the eligibility window and 89 have them in computer science, together accounting for 858 eligible CS papers. The follower base is, in short, an unusually research-dense audience: a data-visualization and machine-learning community anchored in San Francisco, London, New York and Seattle, with Google, MIT, Meta, Apple, Microsoft, Harvard, Stanford and OpenAI the most-cited affiliations.

The contacts export (390 .edu addresses) and Gmail contributed little: the .edu mail is newsletters and the address book is alumni rosters. Three real hits surfaced there — Paige Bailey (Google DeepMind), Anmol Agrawal (UT Austin) and Dan Robinson (Paradigm). The person Micah named first, "Steven from the autoresearch group, recently moved from Stanford to OpenAI," does not appear in any searchable source; the group evidently lives on Luma or WhatsApp. His surname is the one missing input.

Recommendation. Ask, in order: Deepak Nathani (the only follower with a 2026 cs.MA paper, on simulating users to evaluate agents), Dhiraj Murthy (UT Austin, cs.SI social-media discourse), then one of Jefrey Heer, Dominik Moritz, or Jessica Hullman (warm vis-community ties, 25–39 eligible papers each), with David Sumpter, Zijie Jay Wang (OpenAI) and Kai Arulkumaran as backups. Ask one or two at a time with the draft PDF attached; verify endorser status on the abstract-page link (login required) before writing.

B. The Follower Graph

Size and shape. 4,464 accounts follow @micahstubbs (pulled 2026-08-21 via the Apify kaitoeasyapi follower scraper, $0.63, after a 200-account smoke test). 3,691 have a bio, 3,309 a location, 2,521 a URL. The median follower has 466 followers of their own; 313 have more than 10,000. Account ages skew old — 1,772 were created 2007–2010 and only 243 since 2020 — consistent with a following built during the D3/data-vis era rather than bought or recent.

Geography (substring match on the location field): San Francisco 255, London 113, New York 109, Seattle 67, Los Angeles 57, India 52, Bay Area 45, Paris 45, Germany 44, Berlin 43, Austin 38, Washington 34, Toronto 31, Boston 31, Chicago 26.

Academic density. `scripts/x_followers_academic.py` scores each bio, location and URL for affiliation signals (professor/postdoc/PhD, research scientist, .edu/.ac.*, named labs, named universities, venue names). 1,383 accounts score 2; the distribution is long-tailed: 924 at score 2, 195 at 3, 83 at 4, 64 at 5, 38 at 6, 29 at 7, 23 at 8, 16 at 9, and 11 at 10–14. The top of the distribution is unambiguous: Sanja Fidler (NVIDIA VP / U Toronto), Elena Glassman (Harvard), Bongshin Lee (Yonsei), Jeffrey Heer (UW), Hanspeter Pfister (Harvard), Vasia Kalavri (BU), Yisong Yue (Caltech), Douglas Eck (DeepMind), Anna Huang (MIT), Dominik Moritz (CMU).

Affiliations named in flagged bios: Google 26, MIT 16, Meta 12, Apple 11, Microsoft 11, Harvard 10, Stanford 10, OpenAI 7, UW 6, NVIDIA 5, Caltech 4, Amazon 4, Northeastern 4, DeepMind 4, Toronto 4, Yale 3, Columbia 3.

C. Publication Record

The 229 followers scoring 4 were queried against the arXiv API (scripts/arxiv_endorser_scan.py; au:"Last, First" with an exact first+last author match on each result; window 2021-08 to 2026-05). arXiv rate-limited the first pass at 3-second spacing (63 HTTP 429s), so those names were re-run at 6-second spacing with zero errors.

Metric	Value
Followers scanned	229
With 1 eligible arXiv paper (any category)	96 (42%)
With 1 eligible paper in cs.*	89 (39%)
Eligible papers, all categories (sum over authors, capped at 50/author)	989
Eligible papers in cs.*	858
Median eligible papers among CS authors	7

Category mix of the sampled eligible papers: cs.AI 120, cs.LG 97, cs.HC 93, cs.CL 81, cs.CV 55, cs.CY 32, cs.SD 15, stat.ML 12, cs.RO 11, cs.CR 10, cs.IR 7, cs.SI 6, cs.SE 5, physics.soc-ph 5. The concentration in cs.HC reflects the visualization community; cs.AI/cs.LG/cs.CL reflect the ML-lab followers. cs.MA appears exactly once (Deepak Nathani), which is why he leads the recommendation.

Most prolific eligible authors among followers (eligible CS papers in window): Hanspeter Pfister 46, Yisong Yue 42, Zijie Jay Wang 40, Dominik Moritz 39, Jessica Hullman 37, Elena Glassman 30, Jeffrey Heer 25, Ari Morcos 24, Georgina Cosma 22, Bharath Ramsundar 21, Sumeet Singh 21, Bongshin Lee 19, Fred Hohman 19, Anna Huang 18, Bum Chul Kwon 17, Carolina Nobre 16. (James Bailey 43, Weihao Yu 35, John Thompson 20 and Alexander Chen 14 are excluded as probable homonyms: common names whose arXiv output does not match the follower's bio.)

Homonym control. The arXiv author search is fuzzy; the scanner requires both first and last name tokens to appear in an author string, but cannot distinguish two people with the same name. Twenty-two names in the appendix are flagged (homonym?) where the paper subject matter does not match the bio (e.g. a pathologist credited with MoE-inference papers). Treat flagged rows as unverified.

D. Contacts and Email

Google Takeout contacts. scripts/edu_contacts.py found 390 .edu/.ac.* addresses across 170 domains and 23 at AI-lab or top-university domains. The bulk are University of Oklahoma (52), Oklahoma State (48), ORU (18), JBU (12) and Arkansas (9) alumni — personal history, not research contacts. Forty-six research-plausible names were scanned; real eligible hits were Paige Bailey (Google DeepMind; Gemini, Gemma, PaLM 2, A2Perf agents benchmark — 5 cs papers), Anmol Agrawal (UT Austin; legal RAG and physics-solution agents — 2 cs papers), Dan Robinson (Paradigm; auction-managed AMMs, cs.GT — 4 papers), David Greenberg (cs.LG simulation-based inference, 8 papers; affiliation match to the UCL contact unconfirmed) and Matthew Wattergreen (Rice; one cs.SI paper on conversational turn-taking on networks). Nathan Brooks (CMU) publishes in photonics; the 2022 cs.MA hit under his name is a different person.

Gmail, Calendar, Drive, transcripts, CRM. Searches for "autoresearch", "Steven", Stanford/OpenAI, .edu correspondents, reading groups and the knoxus-ai/Unreasonable Labs colleagues returned no endorsement-relevant people. .edu mail is the Knight Center, Stanford Math Circle, OU MarComm and the Exploratorium; sent mail over 18 months is family, school, TRM Labs, Y Combinator and vendors. The only "autoresearch" artifacts are the Karpathy fork in ~/wk/autoresearch, the defunct knoxus-ai/AutoResearch repository, and a Bond AI SF listing for the 30 May "Autoresearch Systems Hackathon with Modal, OpenAI, Raindrop & Antler". Steven is therefore unresolved; with a surname the arXiv check is a single query.

2. Tier 2 — warm vis/HCI/ML ties with unambiguous eligibility

Jeffrey Heer (UW, 25), Dominik Moritz (CMU/Apple, 39), Jessica Hullman (Northwestern, 37), Hanspeter Pfister (Harvard, 46), Elena Glassman (Harvard, 30), Fred Hohman (Apple, 19), Bongshin Lee (Yonsei, 19), Bum Chul Kwon (IBM, 17), Carolina Nobre (Toronto, 16), Yisong Yue (Caltech, 42), Ari Morcos (Datalogy, 24), Anna Huang (MIT, 18), Douglas Eck (DeepMind, 6), Tom Le Paine (DeepMind, 7), Jeremy Howard (Answer.AI, 1), Flood Sung (Moonshot, 13), Bharath Ram-sundar (DeepChem, 21), Paige Bailey (DeepMind, 5, from contacts), Anmol Agrawal (UT Austin, 2, from contacts).

3. Recommendation

1. Deepak Nathani — lead with the agent-evaluation angle.
2. Dhiraj Murthy — lead with the Twitter-corpus and relationship-strength results.
3. Heer / Moritz / Hullman — warmest personal ties; lead with the figures.
4. David Sumpter — collective-behaviour framing.
5. Backups: Zijie Jay Wang, Kai Arulkumar, Daniel Angus.
6. Steven (autoresearch group) once a surname is supplied.

Protocol: generate the six-character code by starting the cs.MA submission; email one or two people with the PDF and the code; do not mass-mail or re-ping (arXiv's stated etiquette); confirm on arxiv.org/auth/show-endorsers/<paper-id> (login required) that the person is listed as an endorser for the cs domain.

F. Method and Reproducibility

- Follower pull: Apify actor `kaitoeasyapi/premium-x-follower-scraper-following-data`. Input quirk: `maxFollowers` and `maxFollowings` must both be 200 even with `getFollowing:false`. Smoke test saved to `docs/scrape-probe-2026-08-21-apify-x-followers.json`; full run 62 s, $0.63; raw JSON (22 MB) kept locally at `docs/data/x-followers-micahstubbs-2026-08-21.json` and deliberately not committed (third-party data).
- Scoring: `scripts/x_followers_academic.py` → `docs/data/x-followers-academic-2026-08-21.tsv`.
- arXiv scan: `scripts/arxiv_endorser_scan.py` → `docs/data/x-academic-arxiv-scan.out` and `-retry.out`. 275 names total (229 followers + 46 contacts); 6-second spacing is required above ~150 queries.
- Contacts: `scripts/edu_contacts.py` over the Google Takeout vCards.
- The whole workflow is packaged as the `/fae` (find-arxiv-endorsers) skill with scripts in `~/claude/scripts/find-arxiv-endorsers/`.
- Companion report on the submission process itself: `docs/reports/2026-08-21-104626-arxiv-submission-first-time-industry-author.md`.
